COMPLETE TEN YEARS OF PUBLICATION
 With last week's issue the Hancock County Eagle completed ten years of publication. It was on September 15th, 1949, that the first issue of the Hancock County Eagle came off the press. We have seen lean years and good years, but with the help of God and the help and confidence of our loyal employees, friends and our subscribers we have continued to grow and succeed until today we boast a circulation which is tops in Hancock County and surpassed by not too many weekly newspapers throughout the state.

We want to express our sincere gratitude to our employees, our subscribers, our advertisers and to our many friends, in general, whose loyalty and confidence have enabled us to continue in business through ten wonderful years.

It is our sincere wish that we may be able to continue to merit that confidence, and to serve you for many years to come to the best of our ability.

The first time in fourteen years, Bing Crosby wears a cakewalk. It's for his role as "Father Conroy" in "Twentieth Century Fox's 'The Country Girl'." Crosby has been voted "Best Actor of the year" in 1949 and presented him with the coveted "Oscar" for his performance in "The Country Girl." Crosby has ranged in his career in a succession of movie hits, not the least of which was "The Country Girl" that won him another nomination.

"Say One For Me" returns Bing Crosby to his home ground, which he is well familiar with. He has no idea related Crosby, "why the public so readily accepted me as a priest in 'Going My Way' and later in 'The Bells of St. Mary's'." Whatever the reason, I'm going to secondguess the ticket-buyers they're the folks who keep us in business."

One of the big factors in the continuing success of "The Old Groaner" is his ability to get on with the people he works with on the set. A few days after meeting his costars Debbie Reynolds and Robert Wagner, his costars, Bing related, with pride, some of his early experiences in show business. "I suppose," Crosby said, "the real start of my career was when I first met Paul Whiteman. To say it was vivid is like saying Joe Di Maggio was a 'fair ball player.' Al Rinker and I were auditioning for Whiteman."

"He had a little piano in his dressing room and we did a few numbers for him there. During our audition he sat on pouffe, fragrant with toilet water and wearing a silk dressing gown. He weighed 310 pounds and was eating caviar from a bowl. To top this off he had a silverplated cooler of champagne beside him. Man, oh man if that wasn't the poor man's idea of show business I don't know what was."

Assistant Home Agent, Simpson County and Mr. James F. Ponder, Assistant County Agent, Simpson County, will have charge of the Highlighter Community Club exhibit.

Mr. George W. Gilliam, Asst. County Agent, Pontotoc County and Miss Anna L. Carson, Asst. Home Agent, Pontotoc County, will have supervision of the Tocopola Community Club exhibit.

The State 4-H County will also present an educational exhibit, which will be designed to show the work of the State Council in the State 4-H Program.

This State Council exhibit will be planned and put on display by the officers of the State Council. These officers are: Gary Williams of Lincoln County, President; Rachel Todd of Jones County, Vice-President; Kay Beavers of Bolivar County, Secretary-Treasurer; Gerald Moore of Clarke County, Reporter; Jacob Meghees of Pearl River County, Parliamentarian.

The District Vice-Presidents are: Patsy Rushing of Marion County, Mack Killebrew of Holmes County, Lynda Yarborough, Walthall County, and Jackie Phillips of Alcorn County.

Selected outstanding commodity exhibits from each county in the state will be eligible for participation in the division for "Commodity Exhibits." These exhibits will be chosen in each county in county shows and fairs. These exhibits will consist of displays of cotton, corn, sweet potatoes, forestry, canning, crafts and clothing. Many exhibits representing these commodities will be placed on display by individual 4-H Club members from many of the counties throughout the state.

The annual dress revue will be held in the State Fair Auditorium on Friday, October 16, at 10:30 a. m. Each county will be eligible to enter individual entries. Each dress in revue must have been made by wearer, who has been declared a blue ribbon winner in her county. The dress revue will be directed by Miss Marguerite O. Davis, Extension Specialist in Clothing, Mississippi State University.

Subject matter demonstrations will be presented to show proper methods and techniques involved in doing a piece of work. Four selected counties will present continuous demonstrations from 1:00 to 5:00, Tuesday through Friday of the Fair Week in the Agricultural Exhibits Building.

The 4-H Personality Improvement Contest will be held in the Clarkdale, Head Hogan, clerk.

This brings a total of 12 of these emergency Civil Defense hospitals to Mississippi, four units having already been delivered to Piquette, Laurel, Ackerman and Vicksburg. In addition, Dawson said, "It is planned to have at least two similar units delivered to Mississippi, which will be used strictly for training purposes."

These Civil Defense hospital units are to be permanently stored and will be available by authority of the State Civil Defense Council in event of emergency beyond the capability of normal facilities to meet, whether brought on by enemy attack or unusual natural disaster. The normal capacity of each of these units in the Civil Defense medical Defense program is 200, but many thousands can be given for better treatment through the use of these Civil hospital units than would be possible without them.

"Each Civil Defense emergency hospital unit" Mr. Dawson pointed out, "is completely self-contained. It has x-ray, pharmacy, laboratory and operating facilities, all ready to be used as set up under a roof. The only other things needed are personnel and water."

APPAREL INDUSTRY LIKES COTTON

A bright spot in consumption of cotton is the increasing use of cotton by the apparel industry. Each year of the past ten years as the output of apparel has increased, cotton has increased its share of the market. From a low of 56 per cent in 1947 to 60 per cent in 1957 cotton has more than met the competition of other fibers. The great natural-made fiber is still superior to man-made fibers for many purposes. Cotton materials are durable, they are attractive, they are fully competitive in price. An even more optimistic picture is revealed in actual cotton consumption figures. During the past ten years, the apparel industry has increased its use of cotton from 2,678,000 bales to 3,913,000 bales, a gain of forty-five per cent.

W.A. McDonald & Sons

John McDonald Mrs. W.A. McDonald C. McDonald, Jr.

My family deserves the best. I always buy X brand.

How many, many times do you hear this or similar statements? Sure your family deserves the best. To you, it's the most important, most prized family possession.

But have you looked around lately? Have you tried new brands new products? Has it occurred to you that X brand may be reading on its past laurels?

Have you thought about the fact that some manufacturers and merchants by their careful planning and managing may be able to give you a better product or at least one just as good at a lower price?

Sure your family deserves the best. But doesn't it also deserve the most? Don't you want to give the members every advantage possible? Television, college education, travel, good books, vacations, music lessons—everything you can possibly provide?

Most of us have limited incomes, but by careful buying—comparing brands and quantities we may be able to buy more and still have the best.

That's where good management comes in. Our definition for management is using what you have to get the most of what you want.

Are you a good manager? BULB PLANTING TIME—ALMOST

It's time to be ordering your spring flowering bulbs—so you'll have them on hand to plant in October and early November.

As you select spring flowering bulbs—tulips, daffodils, snowdrops or some other varieties, or a new one you want to try, it is well to keep mind some type of color scheme if you mass several kinds of bulbs into one bed.

As you prepare the soil at planting time, remember it has to supply food for a long growth period. About a week before you set your bulbs, work the bed, and add more meal for a slow-acting phosphate to encourage long stems.

In the spring when the bulbs begin to grow, use a good complete commercial fertilizer. This give the food the bulbs need for good blooms and stems and some to store for next year's blooms.

Select a well-drained spot for your bulb bed. Your bulbs generally develop roots when planted in the fall in cool soils. Good fertile soils and moisture are important at this time.

EATING HABIT EXAMPLE "Your child is watching you and following in your footsteps."

You've heard this said often. Think about it and the relation of eating habits. Are you setting a good example your self in eating habits for your children?

Do you drink milk? Are you eating fruits and vegetables and meats that you should? Something from all food groups for well-balanced nutrition?

Livestock Department One Of Main Attractions At Miss. State Fair

The Livestock Department promises again this year to be one of the main attractions at the Mississippi State Fair to be held in Jackson, October 12 - 17. This department will likely have increased participation this year because of the growing interest in beef cattle in Mississippi, according to E. E. Grissom, Division Animal Husbandry, Livestock, Mississippi State University and Superintendent of this division.

The livestock building on the east side of the livestock arena will be used again this year to afford ample housing and display facilities for show cattle, according to Grissom.

Beef cattle have become increasingly important to the state's agricultural economy and this year fairgoers will have an opportunity to see top specimens of these animals.

In the beef cattle division, judging of the Hereford entries will begin 9:00 a. m., Wednesday, October 14, while Aberdeen Angus judging is to start that afternoon at 1:00 p. m. Judging of the Hereford entries will be selected on October 13 with judging in that class to take place at 1:00 p. m.

H. B. Hedgepeth, Assistant Extension Animal Husbandry, Mississippi State University, has stated that the quality of beef calves at this year's fair will be much better than before. He also said that he expected from 2,000 beef animals to be exhibited to juniors at the fair this year.

Livestock judging for both FFA and 4-H members will be held Friday, October 16, at 10:30 a. m. and, as in the past, this is expected to be a well-attended event.

SCHOOL CHILDREN REFLECT IMPRESSIVE HEALTH GAINS

Impressive and gratifying progress in school health is reflected in a study which shows that children answering the call of the school bell are much healthier than those of a decade ago. Not only do medical examinations reveal fewer defects now, but almost three more of the defects found are being corrected. Percentage-wise, physical defects corrected have shown an increase of 40.8 per cent—jumping from 23.3 per cent in 1948 to 64.0 per cent in 1958. These findings indicate that the health program available to Mississippi youngsters getting physical defects corrected. No area of public health is more important than the program geared to obtain maximum health and wellbeing for Mississippi children.

The marriage of Miss Alice Blaize Scaife, daughter of May or Mrs. John Andrew Scaife, of Bay St. Louis, Miss., to Mr. Lawrence Peter Kronenberger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kronenberger, Sr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., was celebrated at a nuptial Mass Saturday, September 12, at Our Lady of the Gulf Church Right Rev. Msgr. Martin Moloney officiated at the 12 o'clock noon ceremony.

John A. Scaife, Jr., brother of the bride, and Curtis F. Matherne, Jr., cousin of the bride, served as acolytes. White gladioli, stock and mums adorned the altar and tall baskets of white blossoms and potted palms trimmed the sanctuary.

Mrs. Paul Laguens, aunt of the bride, sang Ave Maria; On This Day O Beautiful Mother, Panis Angelicus and O Lord I Am Not Worthy. She was accompanied at the organ by Professor Joseph Hemmersbach.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of imported Dupioni silk and Chantilly lace fashioned on Empress Josephine lines. The bodice of lace was studded with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The floor length skirt featured insets of lace in a scalloped design. A train of Chantilly lace, over an underdress of blue nylon tulle, swept from the back of the gown.

A headpiece of Chantilly lace embroidered in seed pearls held her finger-tip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley combined with fleur d'amour, stephanotis and an orchid with a crystal rosary attached.

Miss Jeannette Monti of Bay St. Louis, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Misses Lucia Dubaux of Baton Rouge, La., Paula McConnell, of Chicago, Ill., Jo Ann Crasie of New Orleans, La.; Andrea Blaize of Port Allen, La., and Janet Blaize, Junior bridesmaid of Bay St. Louis. Their cocktail length frocks of frosted pink peau de soie were adorned on princess lines featuring a lace bodice finishing to a small V in the back with a flat bow of peau de soie. On their heads they wore circlets of crushed pink peau de soie centered with an American Beauty Rose, attached to a circular tulle veil. They carried spray bouquets of American Beauty roses and English ivy.

Mr. Kronenberger was his son's best man, and the groomsmen included Messrs. Lawrence Mauffray, Charles Staehle, J. V. Morreale, of Bay St. Louis and Captain V. J. Frankiewicz, of Eglin, Fla. Messrs. C. J. Piazza and Curtis Matherne, of Bay St. Louis, served as ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. The cake table, covered with an imported linen cutwork tablecloth, held a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a spray of lilies of the valley, flanked on either side with crystal candelabra adorned with white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums. Fleur d'amour and English ivy encircled the cake.

Mrs. Scaife wore for her daughter's wedding an electric blue gown with a sole sheath featuring bell sleeves, matching accessories and a maroon cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Kronenberger, mother of the bride, chose a beige and brown print crepe dress with matching accessories and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

For traveling the bride wore a red and white checked linen suit, red-velvet hat, patent leather accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet adorned her shoulder.

"Pork Chop Hill" Sunday And Monday At A & G Theatre

The battle of Pork Chop Hill, although it involved only a few minutes of actual fighting, is a gripping story of the Korean War as fought by the most intrepid and bravely fought engagements of the entire conflict.

This battle, and the heroic American infantrymen who participated in it, are the subject of the new film, "Pork Chop Hill," starring Gregory Peck and opening on Sunday and Monday at the A & G Theatre through United Artists release.

An adaptation of the best-selling book by Gordon W. Liddle, the Marshall, "Pork Chop Hill" is the shattering and stirring story of the efforts of a few meagre platoons of GIs to wrest a strategic hill position away from an overpowering superior force of Chinese hordes.

A huge supporting cast containing eighty-three speaking parts, headed by Gregory Peck as an embattled infantry lieutenant, and such top featured players as Harry Guardino, Rip Torn, George Peppard, James Edwards, Rob Steele, Woody Strode and George Shibata.

A Melville Production, "Pork Chop Hill" was produced by Sy Bartletta and directed by Lewis Milestone, director of the unforgettable "All Quiet on the Western Front," still generally acknowledged, after 30 years, to be the best war picture ever made. The screenplay of "Pork Chop Hill" was written by James Webb Sam Leavitt, ASC, was director of photography, and the musical score was composed and conducted by Leonard Roseman.

The single most expensive shot in "Pork Chop Hill" was a simulation of an artillery barrage. The high explosives that went up in smoke and fire on this one shot, making a fantastic inferno of the battlefield, cost in the neighborhood of fifty thousand dollars.

Mrs. Frank Trapani and Mrs. Horatio Favre spent Monday in New Orleans, where they were guests of Mrs. Trapani's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam di Martino.
